

Application for a Medicare Entitlement Statement

For the purpose of this form, the applicant is the person who is applying for the Medicare Entitlement Statement.

When to use this form

The Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 makes the Medicare levy payable by individuals residing in Australia who are eligible for Medicare. Persons who are not eligible for Medicare can apply for an exemption from the Medicare levy in their income tax return.

To apply for an exemption from the Medicare levy, the Australian Taxation Office requires a person to acknowledge that they have been issued with a Medicare Entitlement Statement when completing their income tax return.

Even if a person is not eligible for Medicare, they may still not be eligible for an exemption if they maintain a dependant that is eligible for Medicare. The Australian Taxation Office makes the determination on whether a person is eligible for an exemption.

Persons not eligible for Medicare

Before applying for a Medicare Entitlement Statement, the applicant will need to determine that they were not eligible for Medicare for all or part of the given financial year.

A person may not be eligible for Medicare if, at any point during that given financial year, they:

- were a permanent resident of Australia who
 - had been living outside Australia for 12 months, or more, and
 - had not come back to live in Australia permanently
- held a temporary visa and had not applied for permanent residency
- were an Australian citizen who had been living overseas for 5 years or more
- were a New Zealand citizen who spent less than 6 months in Australia within a 12 month period
- were not eligible under a Reciprocal Health Care Agreement. Countries include: Belgium, Finland, Italy, Malta, the Netherlands, Norway, Slovenia, Sweden and the United Kingdom (including Northern Ireland).

To determine Medicare eligibility, visit the Department of Human Services website humanservices.gov.au/medicareentitlement

How to apply

- A separate application form is required for each financial year. (A financial year runs from 1 July to 30 June.)
- When the application has been assessed and processed we will advise of the outcome. If the application is approved we will issue a Medicare Entitlement Statement, which will certify that the applicant was not eligible for Medicare benefits for a specified period. We will also advise if we do not approve the application or require more information.

- A person should only apply for a Medicare Entitlement Statement for a previous financial year. A person should not apply for a Medicare Entitlement Statement for the current financial year unless they are leaving Australia and will be submitting a final income tax return before the end of the financial year.
- If a tax agent prepares the application, the tax agent must complete the tax agent details in this application form.
